Jacob B. Mensch Papers

Jacob B. Mensch (1835-1912), Mennonite minister, was married to Mary B. Bower. They were parents of three children, Abraham, John and Barbara. Jacob attended West Chester Normal School and was a school teacher in Hereford, Berks County before he and his wife moved to Skippack, Montgomery County where he was a farmer.

In 1867 he was ordained to serve the Upper Skippack Mennonite congregation. Jacob preached in German. When he attended the spring and fall sessions of the Franconia Mennonite Conference, he kept notes in his diaries about the proceedings. These are the first recorded "minutes" of the conference. His diaries cover the years from 1880 to 1911. Jacob traveled extensively by railroad to churches in the mid-west and Canada. His travel diaries are a part of this collection.

Jacob saved many letters he received. These letters number over 2,000 and were preserved by his descendants. Approximately 500 are letters written between family members. From Jacob's sister Catharine Mensch Stubblebine there are 170 letters. The family letters span three generations and convey the impression that this was a family system where parents, children, and cousins cared deeply about each other. Also included are the papers of his father, Abraham G. Mensch (1810-1885).

Jacob had a significant library of over 300 German books with publication dates spanning the 16th to 19th centuries. The collection may have been started in the Bechtel family of Jacob's mother, but he added to it during his lifetime, purchasing books at auctions. The books were donated by his granddaughter Mary Mensch Lederach to the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Historical Library in 1968.
